The History of Brunch:

The word "brunch" was coined by British writer Guy Beringer in an 1895 article in Hunter's Weekly. He argued that instead of the post-church early dinner that was typical in England at that time, there should be a hybrid of breakfast and lunch served around noon for "Saturday-night carousers" to enjoy. He argued that this meal should start with breakfast food and include heavier dishes toward the end. Beringer wrote of the benefits of brunch, stating, "Brunch is cheerful, sociable and inciting. It is talk-compelling. It puts you in a good temper, it makes you satisfied with yourself and your fellow beings, it sweeps away the worries and cobwebs of the week." We couldn't agree more!
